Veterinary & Research Conservation Missions

WILDE TRACKS

Conservation in Action

We operate across key conservation regions in Africa and Central America, where wildlife faces growing threats from human-wildlife conflict, habitat fragmentation, harmful superstitions, the illegal wildlife trade, and the exotic pet market.

In Africa, our work spans South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda, Namibia and Malawi, focusing on protecting vulnerable species and restoring ecosystems under pressure while empowering local communities on the importance of preserving the ecosystem.

In Central and South America, we support vital conservation efforts in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Ecuador, The Galapagos and Belize, areas rich in unique wildlife and natural heritage.

These regions urgently need support to address the complex challenges threatening both animals and the environments they depend on.

We work alongside a diverse network of professionals—wildlife veterinarians, rehabilitation specialists, marine biologists, ecologists, and wildlife forensics experts—to deliver targeted, impactful solutions. There is also the opportunity for longer internships and specific research partnerships for those looking to contribute more deeply to our work.

Each year, we grow our reach, forming new partnerships and helping more species recover and thrive in the wild.

Protect Wildlife Through Science, Law, and Field Action

SOUTH AFRICA

WildeForensics

Embark on a unique and immersive wildlife forensics program set in the heart of South Africa's conservation landscape. This hands-on course dives deep into the world of wildlife crime, with expert-led sessions covering forensic entomology, post-mortems, decomposition processes, veterinary pathology, bird poisoning, toxicology, and crime scene management. Gain a solid understanding of the legal side of conservation through practical training in drafting statements, preparing evidence, and delivering testimony in a simulated moot court. Complement your forensic skills with real-world field experience, including dart gun use, animal handling, anti-poaching tactics, and tracking wildlife in game reserves. Designed for those passionate about protecting endangered species, this program offers a rare opportunity to train alongside professionals on the front lines of wildlife conservation and law enforcement.

WILDE TRACKS

Supporting Conservation

At Wildlife Tracks, we believe everyone has the power to make a meaningful impact in conservation.

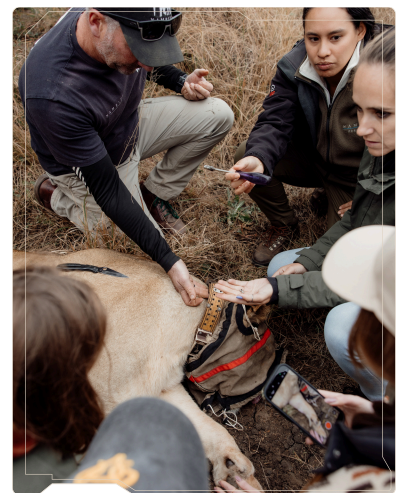

When you join one of our missions, you're not just going on an adventure — you're becoming part of a real, boots-on-the-ground conservation effort. Your conservation contribution directly funds:

- Life-saving veterinary care
- Medical supplies, collars, tags, and satellite tracking
- Helicopter time, fuel, and essential field logistics
- Animal feed, rescue, rehabilitation, and release operations
- Ongoing scientific research and data collection
- Habitat restoration and anti-poaching efforts

Each program is led by seasoned professionals — from wildlife veterinarians, ecologists, and biologists to forensic experts, legal professionals, forensic entomologists, and survival/tracking specialists — ensuring your experience is meaningful, educational, and impactful.

By joining a Wildlife Tracks mission, you're helping protect endangered species, restore ecosystems, and drive sustainable, long-term conservation.

Thank you for being part of something that truly matters.
