Veterinary & Research Conservation Missions

WILDE TRACKS

Conservation in Action

We operate across key conservation regions in Africa and Central America, where wildlife faces growing threats from human-wildlife conflict, habitat fragmentation, harmful superstitions, the illegal wildlife trade, and the exotic pet market.

In Africa, our work spans South Africa, Tanzania, Uganda, Namibia and Malawi, focusing on protecting vulnerable species and restoring ecosystems under pressure while empowering local communities on the importance of preserving the ecosystem.

In Central and South America, we support vital conservation efforts in Costa Rica, Guatemala, Ecuador, The Galapagos and Belize, areas rich in unique wildlife and natural heritage.

These regions urgently need support to address the complex challenges threatening both animals and the environments they depend on.

We work alongside a diverse network of professionals—wildlife veterinarians, rehabilitation specialists, marine biologists, ecologists, and wildlife forensics experts—to deliver targeted, impactful solutions. There is also the opportunity for longer internships and specific research partnerships for those looking to contribute more deeply to our work.

Each year, we grow our reach, forming new partnerships and helping more species recover and thrive in the wild.

GUATEMALA

Experience the full wildlife rehabilitation journey as you shadow a vet through rescue, treatment, recovery, and release in a real conservation setting.

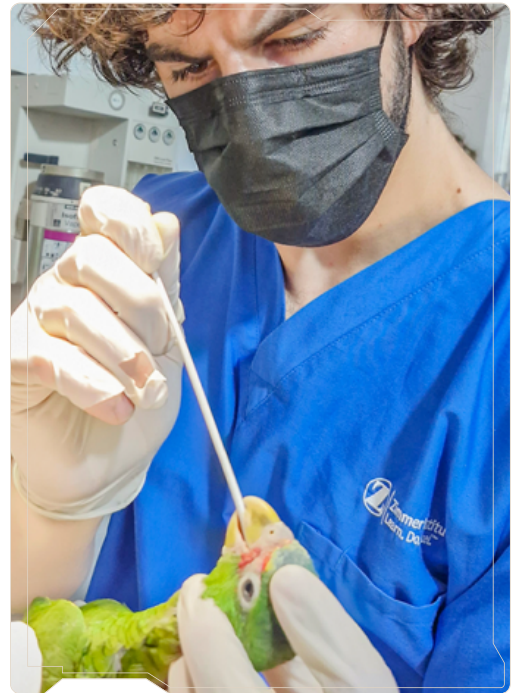

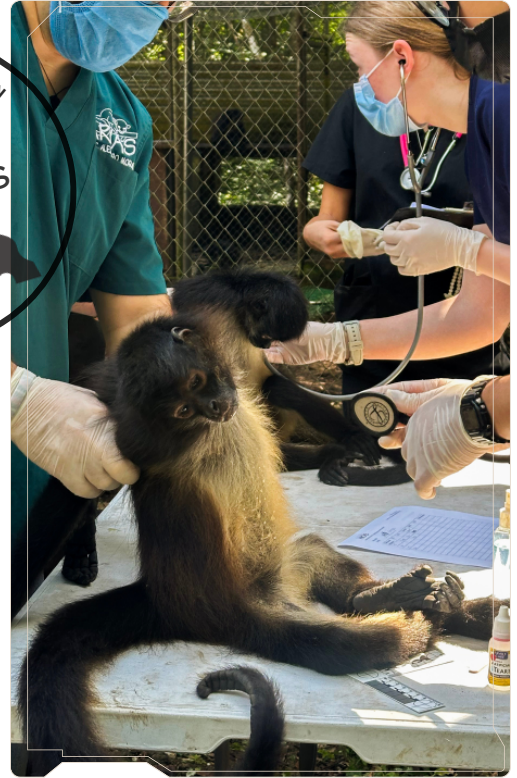

GUATEMALA

WildeGuatemala

Embark on the ultimate wildlife veterinary adventure in the heart of Guatemala! Join forces with expert wildlife veterinarians at the country's leading rescue and rehabilitation center, where you'll gain hands-on experience caring for incredible native species. Take part in clinical procedures from intake to recovery—administer injections, collect samples, assist in surgeries and treatments, and observe diagnostic practices firsthand. Dive deep into the world of neotropical primates, parrots, reptiles, and carnivores through engaging lectures and case-based discussions focused on Wildlife Medicine, One Health, and Conservation. Get practical training in animal handling, safe capture techniques, enrichment strategies, and husbandry, including feeding and behavioral observation. During your stay, you'll also join the annual health checks for resident animals—an incredible chance to sharpen your skills in wildlife care and vet procedures. And to top it off? Experience a thrilling two-day journey to the iconic Tikal National Park, where ancient Mayan ruins meet rich jungle biodiversity for the ultimate archaeological and wildlife exploration!

Supporting Conservation

At Wilde Tracks, we believe everyone has the power to make a meaningful impact in conservation.

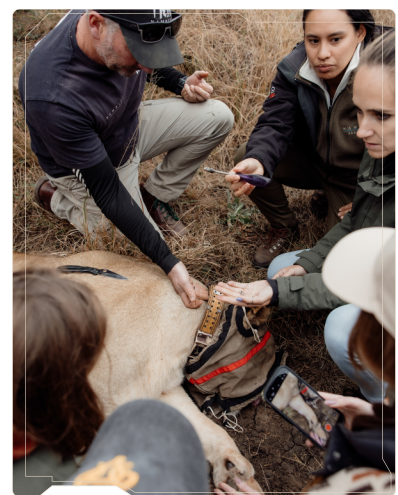

When you join one of our missions, you're not just going on an adventure — you're becoming part of a real, boots-on-the-ground conservation effort. Your conservation contribution directly funds:

- Life-saving veterinary care
- Medical supplies, collars, tags, and satellite tracking
- Helicopter time, fuel, and essential field logistics
- Animal feed, rescue, rehabilitation, and release operations
- Ongoing scientific research and data collection
- Habitat restoration and anti-poaching efforts

Each program is led by seasoned professionals — from wildlife veterinarians, ecologists, and biologists to forensic experts, legal professionals, forensic entomologists, and survival/tracking specialists — ensuring your experience is meaningful, educational, and impactful.

By joining a Wildlife Tracks mission, you're helping protect endangered species, restore ecosystems, and drive sustainable, long-term conservation.

Thank you for being part of something that truly matters.
